

Digital Life: Experience that Matters

Laszlo Systems is developing an integrated suite of breakthrough Digital Life experiences. Built on the success of Laszlo Mail, these will enhance communications, enrich personal content and engage personal communities across the Web. The open, rich and portable nature of Laszlo's platform is ideal for 'triple-play' and 'home-run' scenarios that extend the user experience across voice, video, data and mobile services.

- Fast and responsive applications for the open Web
- Dynamic desktop-style interactivity without page refreshes
- Easily customizable and brandable interface
- Integrated applications that are aware of one another

The Laszlo Digital Life Suite will be licensed to communication service providers seeking to enhance services to subscribers. These applications are designed to create lasting subscriber loyalty through the seamless integration of personal communications, content and community and they are easy and fun to use.

Laszlo Digital Life communication

content

community

Express yourself beyond email with voicemail and videomail

Communicate in real time

Collect, organize and display your personal content

Extend your community reach

Share information with others

See if people you know are online

The image displays a composite of several application windows. At the top left is a 'MAIL CENTER' window showing a list of messages and a selected email with a video thumbnail. To its right is an 'ADDRESS BOOK' window with a list of contacts. Below the mail window is a 'PERSONAL CONTENT' window showing a grid of photos and a 'Puerto Rico Slideshow'. To the right of the content window is a 'CALENDAR' window showing a weekly view with events like 'Dentist Appointment' and 'Lunch with David'. In the center is a mobile phone displaying a similar interface. The background features the word 'communication' in large white letters at the top right, 'content' in large white letters on the left, and 'community' in large white letters at the bottom.